MCC Ambassadors visit Westwood Commons for an evening of fun

Submitted to The Post

Students from Monroe Community College's (MCC) Campus Ambassadors program recently joined residents at Westwood Commons, a DePaul Senior Living Community in North Chili, for an evening of camaraderie! The group of Christian students visited Westwood to share music, play games and enjoy cookies! Participating were MCC Ambassadors Ariel Kaye, Austin Perez, Samuel Spragins, Lexi Nesbitt, Adam Kiester, Dan Kiester, Katie James, James Yaw, Jennie Lasch and Jill Adams along with Westwood Commons resident Frank DiNitto.

A member of the MCC Ambassadors group and dental hygiene student at MCC, Ariel Kaye is also a resident care aide, medication aide and team supervisor at Westwood Commons. She said the Ambassadors are involved in Bible studies, service projects and other recreational events during the school year.

"We're a group that likes to serve others and visiting with seniors at Westwood

Commons is one way we can do that," she said. "We had a very nice time playing games and music for the residents!
