

THE NEWS HERALD

75 Cents

WWW.MORGANTON.COM

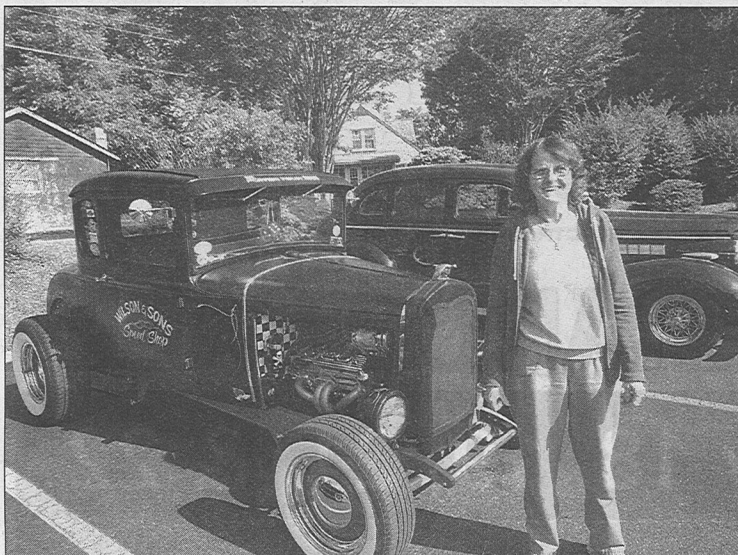

FRIDAY, JULY 18, 2014

Vol. 129 Pub. No. 171

THE NEWS HERALD ♦ www.morganton.com

FOCUS

FRIDAY, JULY 18, 2014 ♦ C5

SUBMITTED PHOTOS

Cambridge House resident Annie Curtis (left) stands beside a black 1930 Ford. At right, resident Myrtle Curtis and certified nursing assistant Marie Speagle pose with a 1934 Chrysler.

Cambridge House hosts cruising with the classics

Special to The News Herald

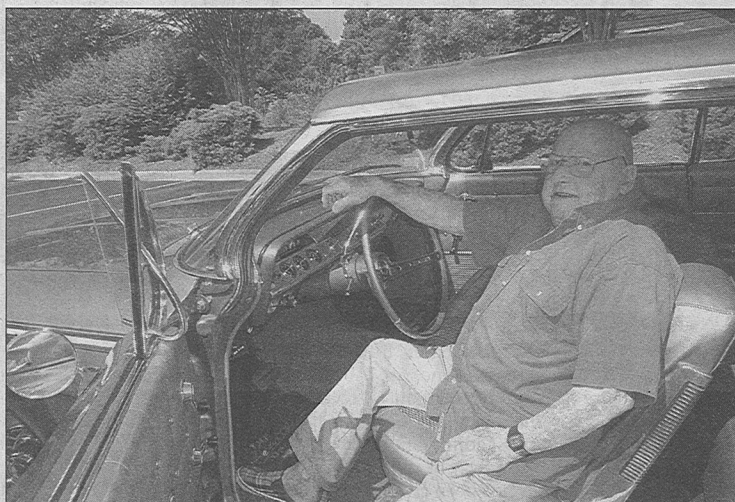

HILDEBRAN

The price of restoring a classic car can range in the tens of thousands of dollars. The cost of gasoline to drive around Hildebran might be $20.

But the memories made when more than a handful of classic cars pulled into the parking lot at Cambridge House, a DePaul Senior Living Community, were priceless.

More than a dozen community members volunteered to bring their antique and classic vehicles for a classic car display in honor of Father's Day.

David Puett is a classic car owner whose father lives at Cambridge House and whose friends brought a collection of cars for the event on June 14.

At left, John Denny tries out the driver's seat of a light blue 1962 Chevrolet. Above, Cambridge House resident Frank Ballew checks out a green 1954 Chevrolet.

Cambridge House would like to thank the volunteers who made the classic car display such a great success. They include David Puett, Richard Armstrong, Charles Smith, Mike Bowman, Ronnie Kaylor, Richard Tucker, Scott Sain, Paul Finger, Danny Foster, Tim Rapp, Larry Mosteller, Raymond Wilson and John Vaughn.

"Even after the cars had left, the residents continued to gather outside on the front porch to reminisce about the cars they owned, the trips they took in them and the fun they had 'back in the day,'" said Cheri Hahn, activities director.