

Henrietta Post

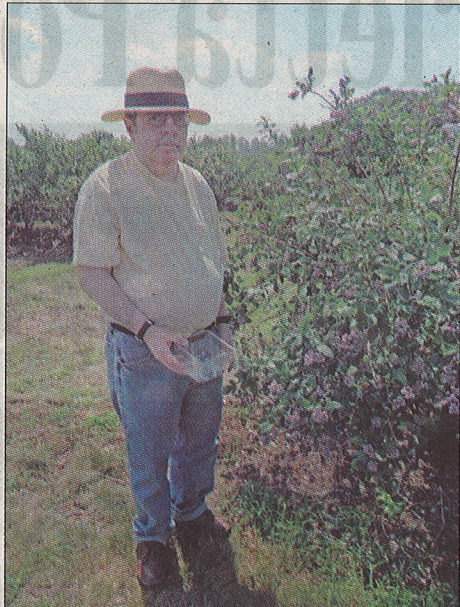

Thursday, Aug. 8, 2013

Vol. 52, No. 32 ■ 50 cents

www.henriettapost.com

PHOTOS FROM OUR READERS

Send your photos, along with caption and contact information, to JBattaglia@messengerpostmedia.com

Doug Kurlan shows off some of the blueberries he picked at Green Acre Farms. Woodcrest Commons residents picked about 5 pounds of berries, total.

SUBMITTED

Bill Hecht looks for ripe berries at Green Acre Farms.

SUBMITTED

Henrietta resident Josephine Layfield went deep into the bushes to pick the best fresh blueberries on a recent Woodcrest Commons trip to Green Acre Farms in North Greece.

SUBMITTED

Henrietta resident Kathleen Schultz from Woodcrest Commons picks fresh blueberries at Green Acre Farms in North Greece. Get the story on page A3.

SUBMITTED

BEING FRUITFUL

Soaking up the flavors of summer

STAFF REPORTS

Woodcrest Commons residents have been soaking up the sights, sounds and flavors of summer. The DePaul Senior Living Community recently shopped for some seasonal fruits, vegetables and foliage at the Rochester Public Market and picked fresh blueberries at Green Acre Farms in North Greece.

Activities Director Lindsay Lown said Tina's Cheese is a popular stop

THINKSTOCK.COM

for the seniors during semi-regular trips to the market, as well as a new favorite, cider and donuts from Duke's Donuts. "Most of the fruits and veggies didn't make it back because they got eaten along the way," Lown said.

This was Woodcrest Commons' second summer of picking blueberries at Green Acres Farm. With a summer breeze blowing, birds chirping and blue skies overhead, residents picked about five pounds of berries.

Residents also picked up some peaches and apricots at the nearby farm stand and treated themselves to ice cream to cool down after all that hard work.