Woodcrest Commons residents view eclipse

Messenger Post Media

Residents of Woodcrest Commons, a DePaul senior living community in Henrietta, prepared eclipse survival kits with outer space-themed treats and viewing glasses ahead of the Aug. 21 eclipse.

They commemorated the event with an "out of this world" photo booth, Sunkist Ice Cream Floats and by listening to "Total Eclipse of the Heart."

When it came time for the moon to pass over the sun, everyone headed outdoors for a view. At about 2:36 p.m., the clouds broke enough to see the eclipse at its peak.

The next eclipse will pass over the U.S. on April 8,

2024, and will be visible in its entirety from Rochester.
