

Denver Citizen

Targeted print and digital content that informs and engages our audience.

For the latest on COVID-19:
denver.lakenormanpublications.com

Girl Scout offers some stuffed love to Wexford seniors

DENVER – In her pursuit of the highest honor in Girl Scouts, local teen Madeline Wright donated dolls and stuffed animals to residents at Wexford House, a senior living community in Denver.

Before the COVID-19 pandemic, as part of her Gold Award effort, Wright planned to host an “adoption party” at the facility to pair the donations with their new companions. When the virus-related social distancing and shutdown restrictions were imposed, she still found a way to get the gifts to the Wexford House residents. □

LEFT: Ron Schoenhardt holds his furry new friend.

ABOVE: Alda Bean cradles her new baby doll.

RIGHT: Trena McCree.