

Sunshine & Centenarians

From gardens and outings to birthday celebrations, seniors at Wheatfield Commons, a DePaul Senior Living Community in North Tonawanda, are soaking up seasonal joy and stories that span more than a century.

John Oggiono explores antiques at the Sanborn Lewiston Farm Museum.

Marie Kalinowski and Ruth Helfinstine harvest crisp lettuce for salads from the courtyard garden beds.

Roger Matlash enjoys a moving visit to the flag display at the Niagara Falls Field of Honor.

Dorothy Getty keeps cool on the porch with a slushie.

Contributed Photos | Page Design by Tracey Morgan

Wheatfield Commons also recognized several milestone birthdays.

Centenarian Dorothy Landis is known for her sense of humor, love for family, and ability to make friends wherever she goes. Her mom lived to be 107 – longevity runs in the family.

Patricia Bartlett, a Buffalo Bills fan and bingo enthusiast, was recognized with a visit from a representative of Assemblyman Angelo Morinello's office in April. Her secret to youth is simple - be kind.